

QUO VADIS

Introduction

Quo Vadis, one of the worlds leading Lighting System Integrators and Technical Service Providers, creates the most technically advanced control systems available, by integrating commercial lighting control and home automation products from the worlds leading manufacturers.

Working in full co-operation with all leading Architects, Mechanical & Electrical Consultants, Interior Designers and Lighting Designers, Quo Vadis can specify, supply, maintain and technically support the most comprehensive lighting systems available.

Solutions are all application specific, ensuring that end users get elegant and convenient control of both their working and living environments. Whether it be to control lighting, security or complete home automation systems, Quo Vadis have the answers.

Harnessing cutting edge technology offers customers the flexibility of using simple wall panels, touch-screen panels or even the internet to monitor and control residential and commercial premises, from home or abroad.

Quo Vadis complements the quality of the products used in each application, with the quality of its own dedicated after-sales technical services, with on-site support maintained by our team of highly skilled technicians.

Quo Vadis, for your total lighting solutions.

TOTAL LIGHTING SOLUTIONS

Retail and Shopping Centres

In shop windows and salesrooms, showcases and shelving units, products for sale need to be effectively displayed and presented. This means simultaneously highlighting the value and quality, design and aesthetic appeal of the product, in order to catch the eye and arouse the interest of all potential customers.

One way to ensure the requisite emphasis is to use accentuating light, although care needs to be taken in order to strike the right balance between the relative value of the products in conjunction with the quality and sophistication of the lighting system used to present those products.

In the case of high value up-market products and the shopping experience connected with their purchase, prestigious lighting in shop windows and salesrooms has a direct impact on the actual sale itself. As well as the range of products on show, the quality of the furniture and fittings at the point of sale and the lighting atmosphere within that area, are absolutely crucial elements of a sales ultimate success.

The carefully balanced selection of fixtures, fittings and lighting controls, ensures that the ultimate retail experience can effectively be achieved. With consumers high visual expectations ever increasing, Quo Vadis can create the ultimate lighting solution in order to help retailers create the magic that is today's shopping experience.

TOTAL LIGHTING SOLUTIONS

QUO VADIS

Quo Vadis Ltd
Chinook, Oldhill Wood, Studham
Bedfordshire, LU6 2NE, England
Tel: +44 (0)1582 871 900
Fax: +44 (0)1582 871 903
technical@quo-vadis.com
solutions@quo-vadis.com

TOTAL LIGHTING SOLUTIONS